CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE.

Welcome to Italy - or should it be Southend? The British don't change their holiday habits much wherever they are, and I hope you will enjoy Derek Benfield's version of the comic side of the annual migration.

We welcome a new (to us) and talented Producer in Yvonne Goodman, her acting skills having been proven in our last production. Barbara Trebilco and Rosemary Woodward are also comparative new arrivals. They were all three in the Olde Tyme Music Hall in July - which, incidentally, raised £269.81 for the R.N.L.I and we thank you for your support.

Have a good evening. I hope you remembered your sun tan lotion!

THE CAST

CHRISTINA BARNES On the boards again. She still enjoys it though and that makes it less like hard work. We're quite a nice crowd, why don't you join us?

HUGH BRASNETT Having attained immortality in his first three stage appearances (twice as a corpse, once as the Devil), Hugh is happy at last to be cast in a mortal role; albeit a lost soul.

TONY FELTHAM Cor blimey mate, look at all these birds. I think I'll go up the apple and pears and take a butchers at the talent. Tony's a single man at last after being a married one in the previous two roles with the Club. He thinks it's definitely more fun being single than married both off the stage and on.

RAYMONDE GRENVILLE Has had a wide variety of parts since joining Wimborne Drama Club, but now she's back in comedy which has always been her preference.

DAVID GREEN This is David's twelfth production with the Club, and following it he is taking a short break to perform with the Bournemouth and Boscombe Light Opera Company in 'The Student Prince' at the Pavilion Theatre next March. However, he hopes to return to produce the Club's 1986 production and has in mind the Hugh Mills thriller 'The House by the Lake'.

JIM RUEGG has been in the Club since 1982 and this is his fourth stage performance in a play. Jim also took part in the Victorian Evening as one half of the comedy duo 'Wally and Whack' which he really enjoyed. Jim says that this part is nothing like his real self in that he doesn't speak Italian!?!?

ROSEMARY WOODWARD joined the Club in 1984, having moved to Wimborne from the Christchurch area the previous year. She is married to David, also a Club member, and they have two grown up sons who think it's a hoot, Mum treading the boards at her age! Her main hobby is her animals, she has three donkeys, a dog, a cat and a pig called Deliah. Rosemary says she loves life, people and sunshine.

BARBARA TREBILCO Finds the Club and its activities most relaxing after a day at the office, but has to admit she is looking forward to relaxing on the beaches in Australia, when she visits her daughter shortly.

PAMELA FELTHAM Those who saw our recent Olde Tyme Music Hall will have been serenaded (and possibly sat upon) by Pam. She should be well in character here having learnt her words whilst on holiday in sunnier climes. Hopefully she wasn't disturbed by too many Agatha Hepworth's!
